A MATCH BROKEN.-A few days ago couple in this city were "sighing for the knot there's no untying." They had known each other long, and thought they knew each other well. One evening gallant called upon his future bride the gallant called upon his inture bride. He had passed the previous night with a party of bachelor friends, and didn't "go home till morning." As a consequence, not even the bright eyes of his dulcena could drive sleep from his eye-lids. He reclined upon the sofs, and suddenly december into the lead of dream. House dropped into the land of dreams. Heavy breathing was followed by a slight snore which developed into a snort which cause the house to tremble. There was as little variation in the nasal music as in the puffing of a high-pressure steamer. The young lady began to think of the inture then wept. She shook her sleeping lover, but he snored with renewed vigor. At last she was furious, and selzing his hair last she was ittrious, and seizing his han gave it a jerk that brought him to his feet. He stammered, "What's the matter, my—" "Matter enough," she replied, "I shall die an old maid belore I marry a man that snores. Good-night!" She left the parlor—he the house. The young lady could not keep the secret, and the day, and succeeded in arresting his man and recovering the dress yesterday. Wil-liamson was brought back and sent to fail in default of $1,000 bail, and will have an examination before 'Squire Gilleapy to-morrow.

AN INTERESTING DECISION.—It is well known to the public that on Saturday night last the Manager of the Opera House discharged his company. Miss Fannie Prestige, a member of the com-pany, yesterday brought suit before 'Squire Caldwell for the recovery of a week's salary due her by Mr. Fitzsimmons. From the evidence before the 'Squire it appears that the Manager relused to pay Miss Prestige unless she would sign a pa per signed by the other members of the company declaring "all previous contracts null and void." Miss Prestige claimed to have been engaged at the Opera House for six months, and refused to sign 'Squire Caldwell decided in the paper. layor of the plaintiff for the amoun claimed and Mr. Fitzsimmons appealed rom the decision

THE BENEFIT LAST NIGHT. - The enefit of the Opera House company was one of the social events of the season Seldom has anything of the kind been so cordially endorsed as was the performance of this company yesterday afternoon and evening. In the atternoon there was a very fair attendance, but in the evening, lespite the most disagreeable weather Washington Hall contained one of the largest and most fashionable audiences ever seen in the city. Bawn" and "Raising the Wind" were re-ceived with most enthusiastic applause the performers being several times called from behind the curtain. The ladies and gentlemen of this company have the well

Card from Manager James Fitzsim-

I respectfully declined publishing any pard relative to the late company of the Opera House until the present, as it would probably have detracted from that public property have detracted from that public sympathy so eagerly sought as a pecu-niary aid to their benefit. But now that their benefit is over, I would here remark that it had been talked around the Opera House for any since that the that it had been talked around the Opera House for some time that the engagements of the company would terminate before they did, as certain parties had frequently, of late, suggested to me that a change of company was desirable, and as the only plan left to me was to notify the company of the conclusion of their engagements and pay them for their services, which I did. Though the official notice of the conclusion of their engagements might perhaps have been placed before them earlier, yet it was suggested to me to have done so earlier would have been very questionable, from the fact that a company of any kind knowing previously for a lengthy period of their disbanding, that a very negligent and careless style of performance would be prejudicial to a company, dissatisfactory to the public and hurful to the amusement establishment. Consequently the official notice, however long expected, was not put up until the time suggested to me.

During the time of the expected notice any of the company seeking other engagements. use for some time that the engager lady could not keep the secret, and the reason why the match was broken off is now generally known among their circle.

ARRESTED IN PITTSBURGH.—Some time after the 28th of November last, a valuable silk dress was stolen from a boarding house kept by a colored man named Major Lee on Chapline, between 11th and 12th streets. A warrant was issued by Squire Gillespy for the arrest of Charles Williamson, a gentleman of color who boarded with Lee and was suspicioned of purloining the dress. Williamson ieft town on the early train Monday morning. In the meanwhile, Officer Junkins found the dress in the express office in this city, addressed to Williamson at Pittsburgh, and by his suggestion it was allowed to be forwarded to its destination. He then took the 11 o'clock train Monday, and succeeded in arresting his man and recovering the dress yesterday. Wilentire affair can be viewed in a matter of fact way, and that is when a public does not see sufficient attraction in a company it is the personal business of a manager to secure such attractions as will more satisfactorily please them, and the first step to that would be to pay off the old attractions and secure in their place new ones, and that is just exactly what I have done. Though the old company may have pleased the public, yet the citizens had so repeatedly seen them that it was suggested to me to secure something that had not lately been seen here, and I have precisely done so, and when the public have seen these attractions I shall pay them off also and bring others to supply their place, and so continue shall pay them off also and bring others to supply their place, and so continue to farnish, as far as obtainable, the current attractions of the day. But I cannot retain all these people here, or more hotels would be required and my losses would still be heavier, for fifteen thousand collars, from the first time I stepped into Wheeling relative to the Opera House nearly two years ago, would not repay me for the outlay in time, money and labor. To do what is right to the public as a Manager, to merit their patronage and esteem, despite any pressure that may have been brought against me to injure me pecuniarily, or my busisure that may have been brought against me to injure me pecuniarily, or my business, or any popularity I may have attained as an amusement Manager, as it is well known to the citizens that I am the rightful Lessee of the Opera House, and intend to continue so until the expiration of my lease, unless I should be honorably bought out, for I shall make public any plan that may be used to crush or force me out, not only through the public press of this city, but of the leading theatrical journals of the entire country. Hoping to continue to merit the public esteem, I am respectfully the public's obedient servant,

James Frizsimmons, JAMES FITZSIMMONS,

Lessee and Manager of the Opera House Wheeling, W. Va.

WHERE SHALL I Go?-In the present depressed condition of the purses of many, what to get and where to get a holiday gift is a question that many will ask them selves. To all such as are in a dilemmi of the above character, we would say be sure and attend the closing out sale o Dry Goods, Suits, Cloaks, Furs and Gloves as announced by Messrs. I. Blum & Bro, the popular Dry Goods dealers, at 1104 Main street. They are really deserving of all the encomiums that we can write in their behalf. We are satisfied that no buyer can afford to go through their stock and pass those beautiful good offered so mercifully cheap without making a purchase. Their stock is offered at our readers should bear this in mind and avail themselves of the opportunity presented. We can truly say that the bar-gains offered at Messrs. I. Blum & Bro's closing out sale are more than ordinary attraction, therefore we request our read-ers not to omit this rare chance.

aration, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected prepara-tion for restoring Gray on Faded HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling as it stimulates and nourishe the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR-DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applica-MERCHANT TAILOR. tions, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Haves, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."
